Jim Beasley Jr. is The Beasley Firm's 21st century leader. Focused, resolute, and driven, his role at the Firm is to be a potent courtroom advocate and a manager par excellence.

Jim has worked on or tried some of the Firm's largest cases. These include the $104 million 9/11 verdict as well as the largest medical negligence verdicts in the history of the state. But his overriding focus is to ensure that all of his clients are treated equally, fairly, and with respect.

Jim has both his medical degree and his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania, and a Masters in Trial Advocacy from Temple University's Beasley School of Law. He is a fellow of the American College of Legal Medicine.

Jim is also an accomplished pilot with commercial and multi-engine instrument ratings. He is one of only twelve civilians in the world permitted to fly his World War II fighter, a P-51 "Mustang," with the United States Air Force.

Like his father, Jim understands that the law is all about public safety, public welfare, and public policy. He has been a guest on television shows like Today and Good Morning, America and has been interviewed countless times for magazines, newspapers, and radio shows.

For the second year in a row, Jim was recently named by his colleagues as one of Pennsylvania's "Super Lawyers" for 2004 and 2005, and in 2005 voted as a "top 100" lawyer in Philadelphia, in surveys conducted by Law and Politics, Inc. and Philadelphia Magazine.
